Ref: Gregory Thomas Berry, et al. v. LexisNexis Risk & Information Analytics Group, Inc., No. 3:11CV754 (E.D. Va.);

Dear Sir;

I see no resolution to the problem herein described in the class action settlement-involving consumer reporting as referenced above. The resolution I seek is for LexisNexis to stop giving out incorrect information and refusing to correct their mistake.

I constantly receive harassing calls from debt collectors for a person I have never heard of. That person is Alaine Nix. Attached are records of at least 16 calls going back to 2008. Many more calls were not documented. The collection agency call cycle is about every month since 2008. Lately we simply tell them to remove our number and hang up. As before, they usually remove our number and then another agency calls to begin the cycle again.

I called LexisNexis on April 14, 2011. Spoke with Terrance and was transferred to Will (ID# DIO). Will said he will search records and see what company is linking Alaine Nix to us and they will notify us by mail as to how to contact that company. On May 12, 2011 we received another call from a collection agency. I called Will and reminded him of our conversation on 4-14-2011. He did not have documentation of the call but again said he would find the company name linking Alaine to us and he would send us a resolution letter this time. He gave us a ticket #29815 for future reference.

We gave up on stopping the calls after receiving the attached letter from Accurant. The letter is very confusing and is intended to sound very intimidating legally. However, in the fourth paragraph is where I base my objection. I quote:

“We do not examine or verify our data, nor is it possible for our computers to correct or change data that is incorrect—Accurant can provide only the data that was provided to us.”

My interpretation is: We can gather anything from anybody and send it to anyone regardless of its accuracy and we are not going to change it even if you have received harassing calls for five years.

The resolution I want is for these above referenced calls to stop. At least two of the calls told us they get their information from LexisNexis. The above excerpt from the attached NexisLexis letter dated September 2, 2011 is an admission of providing such data.

I have also attached copies of two (2) court ordered legal notices. One is correct—JoAnn Nix. The other is incorrect—JoAnn Nicks. Incorrect information was provided to you. Please remove JoAnn Nicks from the address of 151 Gaddis Road.

Neither my husband, my lawyer or I will ask to appear at the final approval hearing to talk about our objections. We trust that you will provide the resolution as requested.

Sincerely,

JoAnn Nix

Ronald B. Nix

Dear Consumer:

We are sending this letter in response to the dispute with the Accurint database. The Accurint database is a compilation of public record data and non-public information using innovative technology to link records about an individual together.

Please be advised that based on the information provided we were unable to locate the data in question.

Kindly be advised that Accurint is NOT a Consumer Reporting Agency, and, as such, Accurint is not governed by the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. § 1681, et seq.). Accurint data is not permitted to be used to grant or deny credit, make employment decisions, or make tenant and housing screening decisions, or any other uses regulated by the Fair Credit Reporting Act. Accurint purchases and resells data collected by outside companies, which cover public records and commercially available data sources, in full compliance with all applicable federal and state privacy laws. We do not examine or verify our data, nor is it possible for our computers to correct or change data that is incorrect – Accurint can provide only the data that was provided to us.

Although Accurint is not a Consumer Reporting Agency, please be reassured that both Accurint, and your personal information contained in Accurint databases, are regulated by the federal government and are subject to the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (15 U.S.C. § 6801, et seq.) and the Federal Drivers Privacy Protection Act (18 U.S.C. § 2721, et seq.). These laws regulate who may access private, non-public data and the purposes for which it may be accessed. Accurint fully complies with these and all other applicable federal and state laws.

If you have any further questions, you may contact us via by phone at (866) 491-0873. The Accurint Consumer Inquiry Department's hours of operation are Monday – Friday from 8 AM to 7 PM Eastern Time. To allow us to protect your privacy and deliver prompt service, please have your Reference Number (located below your name and address at the top of this page) accessible when you call our support number.

Thank you for allowing us to assist you.

I was referring her call to Will with

Consumer Advocacy when she rudely asked me why we didn't change out # when I told her that was not an option - she hung up on me.

I called back and asked for Tina's

supervisor - Steve D'Angelo

He assured me he would take our off his list and also speak with

Tina about being so rude.

Immediately after hanging up, a call came in to 720-602-0085 but they hung up before I could answer. I called Steve back and left a message to mark that # off his list too.
